

2022 School Development Days

The Education Department provide schools with six School Development days for 2022 where students do not attend. Two of these days are mandated before the school year starts for students and the last day of the school year can be traded off for meeting throughout the year.

Each school schedules another 3 days throughout the year in consultation with its School Board and school community.

Independent public schools have the flexibility to trade-off school development days (except the first two days of the school year)
